

Interior Solutions Case Study

Sharp and simple design for second income.

A new house property situated in Islington that had not undergone any redecoration for more than 20 years.

Used as a second home for occasional visits to London the client was seeking a complete refurbishment in order to let the property and generate additional income.

Our brief was clear – carry out a complete interior and exterior refurbishment program within a given budget that will be both durable and stylish.

Comprising of three bedrooms and a garden the property needed to appeal to both the professional and those with a young family. Appropriate fittings were selected that would be attractive to both target markets, keeping the property simple, classic and neutral with good quality appliances.

Our clients were delighted with the finished project and the property let successfully with our Islington branch for a very good weekly rate.
